

Report from the Board AGM: January 19, 2017

The CCIUCN's goal is to promote a common vision for biodiversity in Canada and to engage CCIUCN members, IUCN Commission members and Canadian society in working towards common objectives in conservation and sustainable development.

The CCIUCN provides a networking forum among its members and with IUCN. It serves as a vehicle to consult on conservation policy in Canada and to promote policies consistent with those of IUCN. The CCIUCN helps facilitate the involvement of its members in IUCN global activities including participation in the World Conservation Congress.

Welcome to the website of the Canadian Committee for IUCN (CCIUCN).

The CCIUCN's goal is to promote a common vision for biodiversity in Canada and to engage CCIUCN members, IUCN Commission members and Canadian society in working towards common objectives in conservation and sustainable development.

The CCIUCN provides a networking forum among its members and with IUCN. It serves as a vehicle to consult on conservation policy in Canada and to promote policies consistent with those of IUCN. The CCIUCN helps facilitate the involvement of its members in IUCN global activities including participation in the World Conservation Congress.

The CCIUCN is a not-for-profit organization that was established in 1992 by a group of governmental and non-governmental members and individuals active in the IUCN (International Union for Conservation of Nature). In 2001, the CCIUCN was granted National Committee status by the IUCN. The CCIUCN is guided by by-laws and by the policies of the IUCN. It operates as a volunteer-based organization.

IUCN can seem like a pile of spaghetti

Can we simplify the message?

IUCN One Program in 3 boxes

Valuing and Conserving Nature

- Education
- Engagement
- Enjoyment

→ VALUE

Nature-Based Solutions

- Research
- Experiment
- Evidence

→ APPLICATION

Governance of Nature's Use

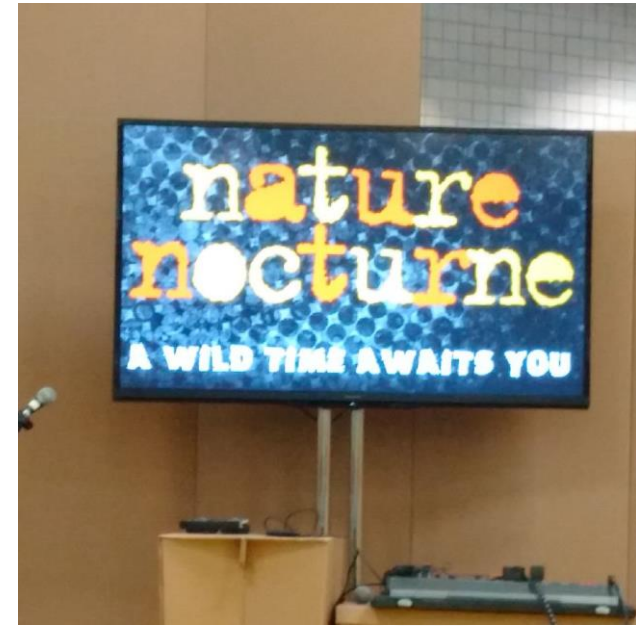

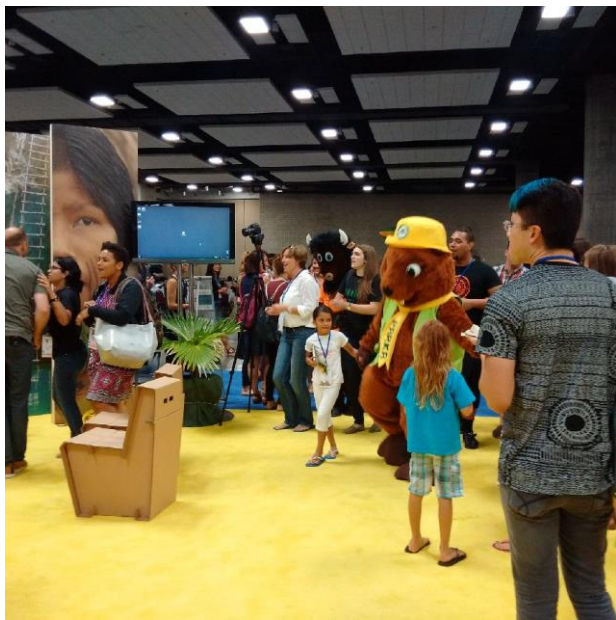

- Policy
- Planning
- Priority

→ GUIDANCE

Outcomes of the one programme

Programme component	Leads to
Value of Nature	reduced risks to species and ecosystems.
Application of Nature's services	cost-effective contributions to societal challenges
Guidance of Nature's use	effective conservation and equitable social outcomes

Outcome

- Broader reach and impact on the conservation effort.
